

Litigation – Copyright

Leech Tishman has a depth of experience vigorously protecting, defending, and enforcing copyright claims in out-of-court settlements and in state and federal courts across the country and internationally.

We provide clients with comprehensive representation by analyzing their case and providing them with honest feedback on the merits of success, negotiating out-of-court settlements with the opposing party, and developing a strong litigation strategy, in many cases receiving a favorable outcome.

Our firm has litigated copyright claims for globally recognized companies, as well as start-ups, small businesses, artists, entertainers, and other rights holders. Leech Tishman counsels clients regarding intellectual property and copyright claims in a wide range of industries, including entertainment and sports, healthcare, emerging cyber technologies, corporate, and real estate.

Our attorneys have handled complex copyright areas, such as:

- Architectural plans
- Business advertising and photographs
- Computer software
- Educational materials
- Promotional materials
