LEECH | TISHMAN
NELSONHARDIMAN

Healthcare Commercial Litigation

Our attorneys regularly assist healthcare entities and individuals in resolving commercial litigation matters in a manner that best meets their unique business objectives.

Leech Tishman's team of litigators, including former prosecutors, zealously advocate for healthcare and life sciences entities and individuals faced with commercial litigation matters. We harness in-depth knowledge of the healthcare industry and related business operations to align successful litigation strategies with our clients' business objectives.

Recognized as major contributors and leaders in healthcare law, we blend our national reputation of business expertise with a deep understanding of regulatory compliance matters that cause complex issues in commercial healthcare. We are experienced with disputes arising from mergers and acquisitions, contracts, operation and management, and intellectual property.